

VISUAL ARTS / GALLERIES / ARTICLE

The National Museum of American Jewish History hosts 'Bill Graham and the Rock & Roll Revolution' exhibition

BY ISABELLA MASON | NOVEMBER 15, 2016

RELATED

---

VENUES

National Museum of American Jewish History

---

The National Museum of American Jewish History, Philadelphia, is hosting an exhibition titled "Bill Graham and the Rock & Roll Revolution" that will be on display through January 16, 2017.

Bill Graham, the celebrated and influential concert promoter who launched the careers of several rock and roll legends such as Jimi Hendrix, Santana, Led Zeppelin and the Rolling Stones, finally comes under the spotlight in the first retrospective on his life and career. Not only did he play an important role in promoting these music icons but also used rock and roll as a powerful force to support humanitarian causes. The exhibition provides a comprehensive timeline behind the powerful star maker.

"Bill Graham and the Rock & Roll Revolution" will be on display at The National Museum of American Jewish History, 101 South Independence Mall East Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

For details, visit: <http://www.nmajh.org/>

Click on the slideshow for a sneak peek of the exhibition

THE FORTY STATEMENTS

The Forty Statements is a collection of 40 statements written by the members of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) who were involved in the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in 1968. The statements are arranged in a grid and are each accompanied by a small photograph. The statements are written in a variety of styles and are often signed by the author. The collection is a significant historical document that provides insight into the CIA's role in the assassination of Dr. King.